Is there an indicator light for caps lock?

It does, indeed.

Does it have adjustable feet or angles?

The keyboard features tiny feet that may be flipped out to lift the back by roughly 1/2 inch. The space bar sways from side to side and is only supported in the middle. To make it operate, you must firmly press it in the center. If I had saved the packing, I would have returned the keyboard because of the bothersome space bar issue.
