GETTING STARTED

To begin reading, simply open the book to the first page. The narrative follows Chet Roscow, a 10-year-old boy experiencing the summer of 1916 on the Jersey shore. The story is designed to be accessible for readers aged 8-10 years and is rated at an Accelerated Reading Level of 3.9, suitable for grades 2-5.

READING EXPERIENCE

The book presents a fictionalized account of the real-life shark attacks that occurred in 1916. Readers will follow Chet's journey as he encounters a great white shark in Matawan Creek. The text is structured into chapters, making it suitable for sustained reading. Illustrations by Scott Dawson are included to enhance the storytelling and provide visual context to key moments in the narrative.
