Setup

Follow these steps to prepare your Star Wars Electronic Battleship game for play.

2. Battery Installation

The electronic unit requires batteries for operation. Locate the battery compartment, usually on the underside or back of the main unit. Insert the required batteries (not included) according to the polarity indicators (+/-). Securely close the battery compartment cover.

3. Game Unit Assembly

Open the main game unit to reveal the two player boards. The unit is designed to fold out, providing separate playing areas for each player. No complex assembly is required as the unit is pre-assembled.

4. Placing Game Pieces

Each player receives a set of Star Wars themed ship figures and a supply of red and white pegs. Before starting the game, each player secretly places their ships on their designated grid. Ships must be placed horizontally or vertically and cannot overlap. The electronic unit will guide players through the ship placement process, requiring manual input of each ship's coordinates.

Operating Instructions

The Star Wars Electronic Battleship game follows the classic Battleship rules with electronic enhancements. The game is designed for two players.

1. Power On

Press the Power button to turn on the electronic unit. The unit will typically emit a startup sound or voice prompt.

2. Game Modes

Select your desired game mode using the mode selection buttons. The electronic unit may offer different gameplay variations, such as standard play or advanced missions. Refer to the on-screen prompts or voice guidance for specific mode details.

3. Ship Placement (Electronic Input)

After selecting a game mode, the electronic unit will prompt each player to place their ships. For each ship, manually enter its starting coordinates (e.g., A-5, B-7) and orientation (horizontal/vertical) using the keypad on your side of the board. The electronic unit will confirm valid placements. This manual input is crucial for the electronic system to track hits and misses accurately.

4. Gameplay Turn Sequence

1. Call a Shot: On your turn, announce a target coordinate (e.g., "B-6") to your opponent.
2. Electronic Input: Enter the chosen coordinate into your electronic unit. The unit will process the shot.
3. Opponent Response: Your opponent will check their board. If a ship is at that coordinate, it's a "Hit." If not, it's a "Miss."
4. Marking Shots:
    - For a "Hit," place a red peg in the corresponding hole on your target grid and your opponent places a red peg on their hit ship.
    - For a "Miss," place a white peg in the corresponding hole on your target grid.
5. Electronic Feedback: The electronic unit will provide audio and visual feedback for hits, misses, and when a ship is sunk.
6. Sinking a Ship: When all parts of a ship have been hit, the ship is "Sunk." The electronic unit will announce this.

5. Winning the Game

The first player to sink all of their opponent's ships wins the game. The electronic unit will announce the winner.

Maintenance

Proper care will extend the life of your Star Wars Electronic Battleship game.

- Cleaning: Wipe the game unit and plastic pieces with a soft, dry cloth. For stubborn dirt, a slightly damp cloth can be used, but ensure no moisture enters the electronic components. Do not use abrasive cleaners or solvents.
- Battery Care: Remove batteries if the game will not be used for an extended period to prevent leakage. Dispose of used batteries responsibly.
- Storage: Store the game in its original box or a clean, dry place away from extreme temperatures and direct sunlight. Ensure all pieces are securely stored within the unit's compartments when folded.

Troubleshooting

If you encounter issues with your game, refer to the following common solutions:
