Familiarizing Your Pet with the Carrier

Allow ample time for your pet to familiarize itself with the carrier before travel. We recommend purchasing a carrier at least a month in advance. Place the carrier in an open area, and entice your pet to enter willingly by placing toys, treats, or blankets inside. Do not force your pet into the carrier. Take your pet on short trips in the carrier to help them get accustomed to being transported.

4. OPERATING INSTRUCTIONS (TRAVEL GUIDELINES)

Traveling by Plane

Always check your airline's rules and regulations prior to flying. Your pet should be securely in the carrier at all times when aboard the aircraft. Always supervise your pet; never leave your pet unsupervised or unattended in a carrier. Never give your pet sedatives or tranquilizers unless prescribed by your vet. Do not allow your pet to travel with a choke, pinch, or training collar. Cats should travel with a collar that has a quick release or break-away feature. Leads should not be used when your pet is enclosed in the carrier. Be sure your pet's collar is secure and clearly displays proof of current vaccinations, your name, address, and contact info.

Travel Tips for You and Your Pet:

1. Book reservations for you and your pet early. Most airlines restrict the number of pets allowed on board each flight.
2. Complete and print your Guaranteed On Board® forms, or call your airline for its specific requirements.
3. Research your destination city's pet rules & regulations, along with those of where you will be staying.
4. Prep your pet for travel. Be sure it has ample time to adjust to its carrier and practice traveling with your pet in the carrier on short trips prior to the big day.
5. Make an appointment with your vet. Acquire a health certificate and ensure your pet is up-to-date with its shots no more than 10 days prior to your departure.
6. Research and create a list of local vets and emergency clinics at your destination.
7. Be sure you have all of your and your pet's documentation in order. Do you have your pet's health certificate? Do you have your Guaranteed On Board® forms to show to the gate agent?
8. Have your contact info clearly and securely labeled on both your pet's carrier and on your pet's tags.
9. Pack for your pet in advance so you can be sure nothing is forgotten.
10. Arrive early on your day of departure and allow ample time for you and your pet to check-in and board your flight. Plan ahead and know various locations at the airport(s) where your pet can relieve itself prior to (and between) flying.

Traveling by Car

Always supervise your pet. Never leave your pet unsupervised or unattended in a carrier. Secure the carrier in the backseat of the car only. Do not secure the carrier to the front seat - your pet will be the safest in the back. The seatbelt can be secured through the luggage band located on the rear side panel of the carrier. The shoulder strap can be secured around the headrest if applicable. Never give your pet sedatives or tranquilizers unless prescribed by your vet. Do not allow your pet to travel with a choke, pinch, or training collar. Cats should travel with a collar that has a quick release or break-away feature. Leads should not be used when your pet is enclosed in the carrier. Be sure your pet's collar is secure and clearly displays proof of current vaccinations, your name, address, and contact info.

5. MAINTENANCE

Cleaning Instructions

The faux lambskin liner is machine washable. The carrier itself should be spot cleaned only with a warm water dampened cloth. Replacement liners are available and sold separately.

6. TROUBLESHOOTING

Questions to Ask Before Traveling with Your Pet

- Is my pet too old or young to handle the stress of traveling?
- Is my pet in poor health?
- Is my pet recovering from surgery or a traumatic event?
- Is my pet pregnant?
- Does my pet get motion sickness?

If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, check with your vet if your pet is suited for transport in its current condition.
