3. Setup and First Use

Before using your new STONELINE® kitchen utensils for the first time, it is recommended to wash them thoroughly with warm soapy water and rinse them well. Dry them completely before storage or use.

4. Operating Instructions

These utensils are designed for general cooking and serving tasks. Their nylon construction makes them safe for use with non-stick cookware, preventing damage to delicate surfaces. The integrated stand on each handle allows for hygienic placement on your countertop, keeping surfaces clean during cooking.

4.1. Specific Utensil Uses

- Soup Ladle & Sauce Serving Spoon: Ideal for serving soups, stews, sauces, and gravies.
- Fish Slice & Spatula: Perfect for flipping, turning, and lifting delicate foods like fish, eggs, and pancakes.
- Serving Spoon (with/without grooves): Suitable for serving vegetables, rice, and other side dishes.
- Spaghetti Serving Spoon: Designed with prongs and a central hole for easily serving spaghetti and other pasta.
- Skimmer: Used for lifting foods out of liquids, draining, or removing foam from soups.
- Whisk: For blending, stirring, and aerating ingredients.

5. Maintenance and Cleaning

To maintain the quality and appearance of your STONELINE® utensils, follow these cleaning guidelines:

- Hand Washing: Rinse with hot water immediately after use. Use a mild dish soap and a soft sponge. Dry thoroughly to prevent water spots.
- Dishwasher Safe: All utensils in this set are dishwasher safe. Place them securely in the dishwasher rack.

Avoid using abrasive cleaners or scouring pads, as these can damage the surface of the utensils.

6. Troubleshooting

While STONELINE® utensils are designed for durability and performance, some common observations can be addressed:

- Flexibility: Some users may find certain utensils, particularly spatulas or spaghetti spoons, to have a degree of flexibility. This is inherent to the nylon material, which is chosen for its non-scratch properties and heat resistance. For tasks requiring more rigidity, ensure the utensil is used appropriately for its design.

- Stains: While designed to be easy to clean, some highly pigmented foods may leave temporary stains. Prompt cleaning after use can minimize this.
