TROUBLESHOOTING

Problem	Possible Cause / Solution
Massager feels too weak or uncomfortable.	Ensure the device is fully charged before use, as pressure intensity can be affected by battery level. Adjust the headband for proper placement, ensuring it sits just above the bridge of your nose and the heated pads are at eye level. Experiment with different modes (Sleep, Med, Hard) to find your preferred intensity.
Device is noisy during operation.	The Breo iSee4 features a new motor designed for lower noise (<50dB). If excessive noise is experienced, ensure the device is properly positioned and not obstructed.
App connectivity issues.	Ensure Bluetooth is enabled on your mobile device and the Breo iSee4 is in pairing mode. Restart both the massager and your mobile device if connection problems persist.
Heat is too intense.	The device maintains a consistent temperature. If the heat feels too intense, consider using a thinner cloth barrier between the massager and your skin, or select a mode without heat if available through the app.
