6. MAINTENANCE

Proper care will extend the life of your potting bench.

- Cleaning:
 - For the metal tabletop, wipe clean with a damp cloth after each use to remove soil and debris. For stubborn dirt, use a mild soap solution and rinse thoroughly.
 - For the wooden parts, wipe with a dry or slightly damp cloth. Avoid using harsh chemicals or abrasive cleaners.
- Wood Protection: Although made of fir wood, which is naturally resistant, applying a wood sealant or outdoor-grade polyurethane annually can further protect the wood from weathering, moisture, and UV damage, especially if the bench is exposed to the elements.
- Inspection: Periodically check all screws and connections to ensure they remain tight. Retighten if necessary.
- Storage: During prolonged periods of non-use or harsh weather conditions, consider covering the bench or storing it in a sheltered area to protect it from extreme elements.

7. TROUBLESHOOTING

Here are solutions to common issues you might encounter:

Problem	Possible Cause	Solution
Bench feels wobbly after assembly.	Screws not fully tightened or uneven surface.	Ensure all screws are securely tightened. Move the bench to a level surface.
Drawer sticks or doesn't slide smoothly.	Misalignment or debris in the tracks.	Check drawer alignment. Clear any debris from the drawer slides. Apply a small amount of wax or silicone spray to the tracks if needed.
Wood appears discolored or weathered.	Prolonged exposure to sun and rain without protection.	Apply a wood sealant or outdoor stain. Consider covering the bench when not in use.
Metal tabletop shows scratches or minor dents.	Normal wear and tear from use.	These are generally cosmetic and do not affect functionality. Use a cutting mat or protective layer for delicate tasks.
