3.2. Faction Selection and Initial Placement

Each player selects one of the five factions: Mythologs, Robot Dogs, Gazorpians, Post-Apocalyptic People, or the U.S. Government. Take all corresponding Faction Unit Tokens and a Leader Token for your chosen faction. Follow the detailed instructions in the included rulebook for initial territory occupation and unit deployment.

3.3. Card and Token Preparation

Separate the Territory Cards, Objective Cards, and Reward Cards. Shuffle each deck individually and place them face down in their designated areas on or near the game board. Place the Rick's Ship Token, Portal Tokens, and Neutral Unit Tokens within easy reach.

4. GAMEPLAY INSTRUCTIONS

The objective of the Rick and Morty Risk Game is to conquer territories and eliminate opponents through strategic unit deployment, attacks, and card management.

4.1. Game Objective

Players aim to achieve their secret Objective Card, which typically involves controlling specific territories or continents, or eliminating a particular opponent. The first player to successfully complete their objective wins the game.

4.2. Turn Structure

Each player's turn consists of three main phases:

1. Reinforce: Receive new armies based on controlled territories, continents, and by trading in Territory Cards.
2. Attack: Attempt to conquer adjacent enemy territories by rolling dice.
3. Fortify: Move armies between your own connected territories to strengthen defenses.

4.3. Factions and Leaders

The game features five unique factions, each with a Leader Token that grants special abilities or extra power in the territory it occupies. Understanding your faction's strengths and weaknesses is crucial for strategic play.
