SETUP AND ADJUSTMENTS

Adjusting the Footrest for Carriage Mode

When converting the stroller seat to an infant carriage (bassinet) mode, ensure the footrest is properly adjusted to create a flat, enclosed space for the infant. If the footrest does not appear to extend upwards as expected, follow these steps:

1. Locate the adjustment straps on the underside of the footrest. There is one strap on each side.
2. Pull these straps through the small holes on the side of the footrest.
3. Securely fasten the straps to pull the footrest upwards, creating the enclosed carriage position.
4. Ensure both sides are evenly adjusted and securely fastened for stability.

This adjustment ensures the footrest is in the correct upright position for the carriage/bassinet setting, as intended by the design.

Footrest Not Extending Upwards in Carriage Mode

If you are attempting to configure the stroller into carriage mode and find that the footrest does not extend upwards to create the enclosed bassinet-like space, please refer to the "Adjusting the Footrest for Carriage Mode" section under "Setup and Adjustments".
