3. Wear old clothes or an apron to protect your attire from accidental spills.

SLIME CREATION GUIDE

This kit allows for 4 different types of slime fun. Follow the basic slime recipe first, then customize it for each unique slime experience.

This image displays the Nickelodeon Slime 4 in 1 Supreme Slime kit box. On the right, a girl is happily stretching a large amount of blue slime. The left side of the box highlights four different slime activities: 1) Stress Ball, showing a hand squeezing a yellow slime-filled ball; 2) Bubble, depicting a child blowing a bubble with slime; 3) Glitter, illustrating pink slime with glitter; and 4) Surprise Slime, showing a plastic duck embedded in blue slime. The box also lists the included components and safety warnings.

Basic Slime Recipe (Using Clear or White Glue)

1. Pour 4 fl oz (118 ml) of clear or white glue into one of the mixing bowls.

2. Add 1-2 drops of your desired neon colorant to the glue and mix well with a slime stick until the color is uniform.
3. Gradually add the slime activator, starting with about 1 teaspoon, and mix continuously. The mixture will begin to thicken and pull away from the sides of the bowl.
4. Continue adding activator in small amounts (1/2 teaspoon at a time) and mixing until the slime reaches your desired consistency. It should be stretchy but not too sticky.
5. Once the slime is formed, knead it with your hands for a few minutes. This helps to improve its texture and elasticity.

1. Stress Ball Slime

1. Create a batch of basic slime using the recipe above.
2. Carefully stretch the slime and insert it into one of the latex balloons. Use the plastic tube or a spoon handle to help push the slime into the balloon opening.
3. Once the desired amount of slime is inside, tie off the balloon securely.
4. Your stress ball is ready to be squeezed and squished!

2. Bubble Slime

1. Prepare a batch of basic slime. For best bubble results, ensure the slime is stretchy and not too stiff.
2. Take a small amount of slime and flatten it into a thin sheet on a clean surface.
3. Insert the straw into the center of the flattened slime.
4. Gently blow through the straw to create a slime bubble. Be careful not to blow too hard, or the bubble may pop quickly.

3. Glitter Slime

1. Make a batch of basic slime using either clear or white glue.
2. Once the slime has formed and been kneaded, sprinkle one bag of glitter onto the slime.
3. Fold and knead the slime repeatedly until the glitter is evenly distributed throughout. Add more glitter if desired.

4. Surprise Slime

1. Create a batch of basic slime.
2. While kneading the slime, gently push the plastic duck or other small, non-sharp objects (not included) into the slime.
3. Continue kneading until the surprise object is fully encased within the slime.
4. Enjoy discovering the surprise as you play with the slime!

CARE AND STORAGE

- Always store your finished slime in the provided cups with lids or other airtight containers. This prevents the slime from drying out and extends its lifespan.
- If slime becomes too sticky, add a very small amount of slime activator and knead until desired consistency is reached.
- If slime becomes too stiff, try adding a few drops of water and kneading. Be cautious not to add too much water.
- Clean up any spills immediately with warm water and soap.

TROUBLESHOOTING COMMON ISSUES

Problem	Solution
Slime is too sticky.	Add a few more drops of slime activator and knead thoroughly until the stickiness reduces.
Slime is too hard or breaks easily.	Add a few drops of water or a tiny amount of glue and knead. Repeat until desired elasticity is achieved.
Slime dried out.	Ensure slime is stored in an airtight container after each use. If it's only slightly dry, try adding a few drops of water and kneading. Severely dried slime may not be salvageable.
Color is not vibrant enough.	Add more drops of neon colorant and mix thoroughly.
