7. Troubleshooting

If you encounter any issues with your Braun Series 3 300 shaver, refer to the common problems and solutions below:

- Shaver not turning on or charging: Ensure the charger is properly connected to both the shaver and a working power outlet. Check if the charging indicator light is active. If the battery is completely drained, it might take a few minutes for the indicator to appear.
- Poor shaving performance or irritation: Ensure the shaver head and foils are clean and free from debris. Replace the shaver head and foils if they are worn or damaged (typically every 18 months). Apply light pressure and shave against the direction of hair growth. Consider using the shaver with foam or gel for sensitive skin.
- Battery not holding charge: Over time, rechargeable batteries can lose capacity. If the shaver's battery life significantly decreases, it may be time to replace the battery or consider a new shaver. Ensure the shaver is fully charged for the recommended duration.
