OPERATING INSTRUCTIONS

Encouraging your cat to use the scratching mat is straightforward. Cats are naturally drawn to sisal for scratching and soft surfaces for resting.

- Scratching: The sisal surface is designed for your cat to scratch. If your cat is not immediately interested, you can gently guide their paws to the sisal or sprinkle a small amount of catnip on the scratching area to attract them.
- Resting: The plush, memory foam side provides a comfortable spot for your cat to nap or relax.
- Playing: The interactive mouse toy encourages playful batting and pouncing, providing mental and physical stimulation.

MAINTENANCE

Regular cleaning and maintenance will extend the life of your Happi N Pets Cat Scratching Mat.

- Spot Cleaning: For minor spills or dirt, use a damp cloth with mild soap to spot clean the plush and sisal surfaces. Avoid saturating the material.
- Vacuuming: Regularly vacuum the sisal and plush areas to remove loose fur and debris.
- Drying: Allow the mat to air dry completely after cleaning. Do not tumble dry or use direct heat.
- Inspection: Periodically inspect the mat for any signs of wear or damage, especially the sisal scratching surface and the interactive toy.

TROUBLESHOOTING

Problem	Possible Cause	Solution
Cat not using the scratcher.	Lack of interest, unfamiliarity, or preference for other surfaces.	Try sprinkling catnip on the sisal. Gently guide your cat's paws to the surface. Place the mat in a high-traffic area or near existing scratching spots.
Mat slides on the floor.	Improper placement or very smooth floor surface.	Ensure the entire anti-slip backing is flat against the floor. The enhanced anti-slip backing is designed for stability on various surfaces including carpet, wood, and tile.
Interactive toy is damaged.	Excessive play or wear and tear.	While the toy is durable, it may wear over time. Consider replacing the mat if the toy is essential for your cat's engagement and is beyond repair.
