4. GAME COMPONENTS

4.1. The Vault

The central feature of this edition is the plastic vault. It contains money, hotels, and special cardboard keys. To open the vault, players must guess a random code (a number from 1 to 6). The code resets each time the vault is opened. When the vault is opened, its contents are refilled, ensuring continuous opportunities for riches.

4.2. Game Tokens

This edition features unique tokens designed to look like they are ready to break into the vault. The tokens include Scottie (the dog), Top Hat, T-Rex, Hazel (the cat), Racecar, and Rubber Ducky.

4.3. Cardboard Keys

Unlike traditional Monopoly, some properties on the board are 'locked' and can only be purchased if a player possesses a cardboard key found within the vault. These keys add a strategic layer to property acquisition.

5. How to PLAY

The core gameplay of Monopoly Secret Vault remains similar to the classic game, with players buying, selling, and trading properties to bankrupt opponents. The key difference lies in the vault mechanism:

- Unlocking the Vault: Players get a chance to open the vault by either landing on specific 'Guess for Free!' spaces or by rolling a die with the vault symbol.
- Guessing the Code: When attempting to open the vault, players guess a number from 1 to 6. If the guess is correct, the vault opens, and the player collects the contents. The code then randomly resets.
- Vault Contents: Inside the vault, players can find Monopoly money, hotels (which can only be acquired from the vault), and cardboard keys.
- Locked Properties: Certain properties on the board are marked with a key symbol. These properties cannot be bought with money alone; a player must possess a cardboard key to acquire them.
- Winning the Game: The game concludes when all properties are owned and all players have passed 'GO' a set number of times (refer to the game guide for specific end-game conditions). The player with the most money (including property values) at the end of the game wins.
