3. SETUP

3.1 Assembling the Game Board

1. Connect the base and frame pieces to form the central game unit.
2. Insert the 8 grid support legs into the designated slots on the frame.
3. Place the 4 zone grids onto the support legs, creating three distinct playing levels.
4. Insert the cardboard divider into the central slot to separate the two players' areas.

3.2 Player Roles and Deployment

Each player chooses a side: the Wakandan Navy or the Talokanil Warriors.

- Wakandan Navy Player: Uses the 5 Wakandan ship tokens.
- Talokanil Warriors Player: Uses the 5 Talokanil structure tokens.

Players secretly deploy their ships or structures on the three different platforms (zones) within their designated playing area. Place your tokens anywhere on the grids. Ensure your opponent cannot see your deployment.

3.3 Peg Placement

Each player receives:

- Orange "hit" pegs: Used to mark successful hits on opponent's fleet.
- Blue "miss" pegs: Used to mark unsuccessful shots.
- Vibranium pegs: Special pegs used for defense.

Keep your pegs organized and ready for use during gameplay.

4. OPERATING (GAMEPLAY)

4.1 Game Objective

The objective of the game is to be the first player to locate and defeat all of your opponent's ships or structures.

4.2 Taking a Turn

1. Players take turns calling out a target location. A location is identified by a sector (1, 2, or 3 for the different platforms) and a grid coordinate (e.g., A-5).

2. The opponent checks their board for a ship or structure at the called location.
3. If a ship or structure occupies any part of that location, it is a "hit." The opponent announces "Hit!" and places an orange peg into the hit location on their ship/structure. The attacking player places an orange peg on their own grid to mark the hit.
4. If no ship or structure is at the location, it is a "miss." The opponent announces "Miss!" The attacking player places a blue peg on their own grid to mark the miss.

4.3 Vibranium Pegs and Deflection

Vibranium pegs offer a defensive advantage:

- If an opponent hits a location where you have placed a vibranium peg, that entire row or column is protected from that specific shot.
- The shot is then deflected back to the opponent's corresponding location on their own grid. The opponent must then mark a hit on their own fleet at that location.

4.4 Bonus Actions

When you land a hit, you earn a special bonus. Use the bonus tracker to select and activate a bonus action on your next turn. These bonuses can enhance your attack or defense strategies.

4.5 Winning the Game

The first player to successfully defeat their opponent's entire fleet (all 5 ships/structures) wins the game.
