Operating Your Model

Once assembled, your Patronus model is designed for display. Both the stag and wolf Patronus feature posable legs, allowing for dynamic display poses. The translucent light-blue elements give the models a ghostly, magical effect, true to the Patronus Charm. The integrated display stand provides a stable base and includes decorative elements, as well as a dedicated space for the accompanying minifigure (Harry Potter for the stag, Remus Lupin for the wolf).

While the models have posable parts, they are primarily display pieces and are not intended for rough play.

Handle with care to maintain their structural integrity and appearance.

Maintenance

To keep your LEGO Harry Potter Expecto Patronum set in pristine condition, regular dusting with a soft brush or cloth is recommended. For deeper cleaning, you can gently wash the LEGO bricks with mild soap and lukewarm water. Avoid using hot water or harsh chemicals, as these can damage the plastic. Allow all pieces to air dry completely before reassembling or displaying.

Troubleshooting

Missing Pieces

If you find any missing pieces during the building process, please contact LEGO Customer Service directly through their official website. They have a dedicated service for replacing missing bricks.

Model Instability

If your built Patronus model feels unstable, carefully re-examine the connections of the bricks, especially in the legs and the main body. Ensure all bricks are firmly pressed together as indicated in the instructions. The display stand is designed to provide stability, so confirm the model is correctly seated on it.
