4. MAINTENANCE AND CARE

Proper care is essential to maintain the softness, absorbency, and durability of your Anko Madison Bath Towel. Follow these instructions carefully:

- Washing: Wash separately before use. Use a warm machine wash with similar colors.
- Bleaching: Do not bleach. Bleach can damage cotton fibers and affect color.
- Fabric Softener: Do not use fabric softener. Fabric softeners can leave a residue that reduces the towel's absorbency.

- Drying: May be tumble dried warm. Ensure the towel is completely dry before folding and storing to prevent mildew.
- Ironing: Warm iron if required.
- Dry Cleaning: Do not dry clean.
- Storage: Store in a dry, well-ventilated area.

5. TROUBLESHOOTING

While the Anko Madison Bath Towel is designed for quality, occasional issues may arise. Here are some common concerns and their solutions:

Common Issues:

- Reduced Absorbency: If your towel seems less absorbent, it might be due to fabric softener residue. Wash the towel without fabric softener and consider adding a cup of white vinegar to the wash cycle occasionally to remove buildup.
- Linting: New towels may shed some lint during the first few washes. This is normal for cotton products. Ensure you wash separately for the first few cycles. If linting persists, ensure you are not overloading your washing machine or using excessive detergent.

- Fading Color: To prevent color fading, always wash with similar colors and avoid harsh detergents or bleach. Drying in direct sunlight for extended periods can also contribute to fading.
