- Storage: Store the brooch in a dry, cool place, preferably in a jewelry box or a soft pouch, to prevent scratches and exposure to excessive moisture or direct sunlight.
- Avoid Impact: Protect the brooch from drops or impacts, which could dislodge rhinestones or bend the pin.
- Chemical Exposure: Avoid contact with perfumes, hairsprays, lotions, and other chemicals, as they can dull the finish or damage the rhinestones.

6. TROUBLESHOOTING

Problem	Possible Cause	Solution
Pin does not close securely.	Pin may be bent or clasp mechanism is obstructed.	Gently inspect the pin for bends. If slightly bent, carefully try to straighten it. Ensure no debris is blocking the clasp. If severely damaged, contact customer support.
Rhinestones appear dull.	Accumulation of dirt, oils, or residue from cosmetics.	Gently wipe the brooch with a soft, dry cloth. For stubborn residue, a slightly damp cloth (water only) followed by immediate drying can be used, but avoid excessive moisture.
Brooch feels loose on fabric.	Insufficient fabric secured by the pin, or fabric is too thin.	Ensure the pin passes through a substantial amount of fabric. For very thin fabrics, consider using a small piece of felt or a backing disc behind the fabric to provide more grip.
