CARE AND MAINTENANCE

- Dust Collection Filter: Do not wash the dust collection filter with water, as this will impair its function.
- Filter Orientation: Always install the dust collection filter with the side marked "FRONT" or with a tag facing forward. Incorrect installation will prevent proper purification.

- Deodorizing Filter: The deodorizing filter does not have a specific front or back.
- Replacement Frequency: The estimated replacement guideline is approximately 10 years. However, the filter lifespan varies significantly depending on usage time and environmental conditions. For households with pets, it is recommended to shorten the replacement interval to maintain optimal air quality.

TROUBLESHOOTING

If you experience issues after replacing the filters, consider the following:

● Reduced Airflow or Purification:

- Ensure both filters are installed correctly and securely. Refer to the "Installation and Replacement" section.
- Check if the dust collection filter is installed with the "FRONT" side facing forward.
- Verify that the air purifier unit itself is functioning properly according to its own manual.

- Persistent Odors:

- Confirm that the deodorizing filter is present and correctly installed.
- If the environment has strong or continuous odor sources (e.g., heavy smoking, multiple pets), the deodorizing filter may saturate faster than the estimated lifespan. Consider more frequent replacement.
- Ensure the air purifier's fan speed is appropriate for the room size and odor level.

- Unusual Noises:

- Check if the filters are seated properly and not obstructing any moving parts within the air purifier.
- Ensure the front panel is securely closed.
