4.3. Assemble the Flower Head

Begin by connecting the individual petals and central components to form the carnation flower head. Follow the numbered steps and diagrams in the manual precisely to ensure correct layering and orientation. Ensure all connections are secure but do not force them.

4.4. Assemble the Stem and Leaves

Attach the various leaf pieces to the main stem components. Pay close attention to the specific connection points and the natural curvature or angle of the leaves as shown in the diagrams.

4.5. Combine Flower Head and Stem

Carefully connect the assembled carnation flower head to the top of the stem structure. This connection should be firm to support the flower head.

4.6. Assemble the Base/Pot

Construct the decorative pot using the designated wooden pieces. The pot is designed to provide a stable foundation for your flower. Ensure all sides are interlocked correctly.

4.7. Insert Flower into Base

Place the assembled flower and stem into the constructed pot. The bottom of the stem should fit snugly into the designated slot in the base, allowing the flower to stand upright and stable.
