3. Operating and Display

Once assembled, your nanoblock Koraidon DX model is primarily intended for display. While it is a robust construction, it is not designed for rough play.

Displaying Your Model

- Place the model on a stable, flat surface away from direct sunlight or extreme temperatures.
- Avoid areas with high humidity, which could potentially affect the plastic over time.
- The model's pose can be adjusted slightly at certain joints, but avoid excessive force to prevent parts from detaching.

4. Maintenance and Care

Proper care will ensure the longevity and appearance of your nanoblock Koraidon DX model.

Cleaning

- To remove dust, use a soft, dry brush or a can of compressed air.
- For more stubborn dirt, gently wipe with a slightly damp cloth. Avoid using harsh chemicals or abrasive cleaners.
- Ensure the model is completely dry before returning it to display.

Storage

If disassembling for storage, keep all pieces in a sealed container to prevent loss and protect them from dust and damage.

5. Troubleshooting

While nanoblock models are generally stable, some common issues may arise during or after assembly.

Common Issues and Solutions

Problem	Possible Cause	Solution
Model parts are loose or fall apart easily.	Incorrect block placement, weak connection points, or external pressure.	Carefully re-examine the instruction manual for correct block orientation and placement. For display models, consider using a small amount of plastic model adhesive on particularly fragile or load-bearing joints to enhance stability, if desired.
Model does not stand upright or is unstable.	Improper weight distribution or base assembly.	Verify that the base and leg structures are assembled precisely according to the instructions. Ensure the model is placed on a perfectly flat surface.
Missing or incorrect pieces.	Manufacturing error or pieces misplaced during unboxing/assembly.	Thoroughly check your workspace and packaging for any overlooked pieces. If pieces are genuinely missing or incorrect, contact nanoblock customer support (see Section 7).
