USAGE GUIDELINES

The Generic N1183M rug is designed for general indoor use. While durable, proper usage ensures its longevity.

- Foot Traffic: The rug is constructed to withstand daily foot traffic.
- Rotation: Periodically rotate the rug to ensure even wear, especially in high-traffic areas.
- Rug Pad: Consider using a non-slip rug pad underneath to prevent movement and provide additional cushioning and floor protection.

MAINTENANCE

Regular care is crucial for maintaining the appearance and integrity of your leather cowhide rug.

- Vacuuming: Vacuum regularly using a low-power setting or a broom to remove loose dirt and debris. Avoid using a beater bar, as it can damage the leather.
- Spot Cleaning: For spills, blot immediately with a clean, dry cloth. Do not rub, as this can spread the stain. For more stubborn spots, use a damp cloth with a mild, pH-neutral leather cleaner, testing on an inconspicuous area first.

- Professional Cleaning: The manufacturer recommends Dry Clean Only for thorough cleaning. Do not machine wash or tumble dry.
- Avoid Moisture: Keep the rug away from excessive moisture and humidity. If it gets wet, dry it thoroughly and quickly to prevent damage.
- Sunlight Exposure: Prolonged exposure to direct sunlight can cause fading. Rotate the rug or use window coverings to minimize direct sun exposure.

TROUBLESHOOTING

Below are common issues and their potential solutions for your area rug.

- Shedding: Some initial shedding is normal for natural fiber rugs. Regular, gentle vacuuming can help reduce this over time.
- Curling Edges: If rug edges curl, gently roll them in the opposite direction or place heavy objects on the corners for a few days to flatten them. A rug pad can also help.
- Creases/Wrinkles: Allow the rug to relax for a few days after unrolling. Reverse rolling it for a short period can also help flatten creases.
- Fading: If fading occurs, it may be due to prolonged exposure to direct sunlight. Rotate the rug periodically to distribute wear and sun exposure evenly.
