hama 00054106 Portable Notebook Combination Lock

Overview

Note for Consumers

The combination is factory-set to “0000”. This can be changed as follows: after entering a valid combination, push the cable into the lock (1) and turn it 45° to the right (2). The cable will lock into this position. The numbered wheels can now be set to the desired combination. To save the new combination, turn the cable lightly to the left until it releases and returns to the original position. We expressly recommend writing the new combination down and storing it in a safe place. We accept no liability for any damages resulting from lost or forgotten combinations.
