In this buying guide, you will find all our beds, including bed frames with and without storage, upholstered bed frames, daybeds, loft beds, and bunk beds. You will also get an overview of our bed accessories, such as headboards and bed storage boxes. Of course, a bed is not complete without a mattress and bed linens. You can test and find the best mattress for you in the mattress studio. The textiles department has a wide range of comforters, pillows and bed linens.

BED FRAMES

Bunk beds have sleeping for two — an upper bunk and a lower bunk. Loft beds provide sleeping for one, with space underneath for storage, play or study. Both are single beds.

Only children over age 6 should sleep in the loft bed or top bunk due to the risk of injury from falls. The loft bed and top bunk has a solid guardrail at a good height and minimal gaps in the rail for the safety of the sleeper. But the guardrail loses its function if the mattress is too high up in the bed to make the guardrail protective. So use a mattress that is the right thickness for a loft bed or top bunk. Complete the loft bed with a mattress in a matching size and the bunk bed with two twin mattresses. Slatted bed base is included and SKORVA mid beam is not needed for loft and bunk beds.

BUNK BED FRAMES

Complete the bunk bed frame with two twin mattresses. For safety reasons, each bed frame has a maximum mattress thickness (see below).

LOFT BED FRAMES

Complete the loft bed with a mattress in a matching size (twin or full). Each bed frame has a maximum mattress thickness (for safety reasons) and a minimum required ceiling height (see below).

The ladder mounts on the right or the left side of the bed. Maximum mattress thickness: 8½". Minimum ceiling height required: 8'10".
