It might be work, but it doesn't have to feel dull. Workspaces are evolving and we know how to set the scene for the best ideas to surface. So it's important to design a workplace that feels comfortable for the people who share that space and inspiring as well to boost motivation and productivity. And no matter what sort of space you have, we'll show you how easy it can be to furnish your office in a stylish yet, practical, and cost efficient way.

Open space with privacy: Create a place in a way to give a privacy to each employee by giving each one a zone with individual and movable chest of drawer and adjustable desk which the employee can use for different functions.

Balance: Warm and light colours were used to create a balance in the space.

Modern office, 150 sqm

Switch between sitting and standing all day. Just push a button to adjust your desk to your perfect height.

Whether it's a coffee break or an informal status meeting, your team needs room to meet, get inspired and grow.

Make it cosy with comfortable chairs, plants, table lamps and soft textiles like pillows and rugs. Keep it flexible. Choose furniture that's easy to move around and separate socializing space from work space. Let the ideas flow!

Don't forget to schedule a break with fruit and baked goods to keep energy levels high.

Choose a conference table where you can build in cable management to keep the tabletop free of clutter.

3 tips to transform your workspace

We spend more time at work than we do at home so it's important that where we work feels inspiring and inviting. Here are some easy tips our experts would like to share with you to help you create the right ambiance:

1. Let the light flow. Take advantage of natural light. If you can, replace walls with glass partitions. Opt for low storage units and room dividers. Choose dimmable overhead lights and desk lamps so that you'll always have the right amount of light to suit the time of day and your needs.

2. Choose colours wisely. Some colours – like orange, red and yellow – are energising. Others like blue or green are calming. Make sure you have a good balance of stimulating and soothing shades when planning your colours.

3. Be flexible. No matter how big or small your workspace is, focusing on smart furniture that's multi-functional will allow for more spontaneity and flexibility – a desk can double as a table or a drawer unit on castors can also be used as a podium.

When people feel better at work, they're more creative and productive. Whether it's better lighting, textiles to add colour or plants to reduce stress, creating a healthier workplace doesn't have to be difficult.

Setting up a Kitchen in the office for your co-workers

The office kitchen is one among the most important parts of your office culture, it's not only a place where people refuel themselves, but it is also a place for people to share ideas and form strong work relationships.

Your kitchen should feel accessible, welcoming, and an area where employees feel comfortable taking their breaks.

The design of the kitchen is a key element for the productivity of your employees. With IKEA for business, we will help you design your perfect work kitchen.

Not only we have the solutions you need in the styles you like, but we also have a range of services from planning to installation that can really help you bring your business dreams to life and let your business personality shine. So why not let us do some of the heavy lifting so you can get on with the fun stuff?

We do all this because we don't want to be just a furniture dealer. We want to be your long-term partner and help make your business a success.

Setting up a break, relax, and snacking area at work

Whether you're considering a complete makeover of your office kitchen or just rearranging what you have, be strategic about the general layout of the area.

Consider a comfortable seating/ dining area, in order to encourage your employees to take a break and move around, as well a meal prep area to allow your co-workers to snack healthier.

If you have small space, we have the right solutions, and our designers will help you optimize every inch.

Energize and connect with colleagues

Large bottles of water, a basket full of fruits, clean tables and comfy chairs, a kitchen that's as calm as a trip to the spa. These are a few things that make your lunchroom a place to energize and connect with colleagues. Putting together the perfect lunch essentials is easy: Start with the basics – glasses, cutlery, napkins, water carafe and pops of green – and build from there.

The beauty salon and spa to recharge body and soul

From the moment your guests set foot inside your beauty salon or spa, they should know right away that they will be in safe hands in a serene and a healthy atmosphere where they will disconnect and recharge.

Here are some inspirations and ideas to help you start on the right foot.

All you need for your SPA

With simple products you can create a space that not only takes care of all your practical needs but is also a calming oasis. A place where customers can kick back and escape the cares of the day.

Scents awaken our attention and associate with feelings in our brain, which determines how we think about certain places.

Show-off shelves

When it comes to creating a beautiful display with your stock, start with shelving units. Try adding perfectly dimensioned storage boxes to keep extra stock neatly stored and easily accessible.

Do not forget comfort

There's nothing more welcoming than a relaxing waiting area. Combine these sleek black leather chairs with a small table and some lush plants to create a calm space where clients can ease into the salon experience.

Your handy helper

Keeping your equipment close by as you move between workstations is what this handy cart is made for. The deep, roomy shelves keep everything secure and its neat shape means that it's easy to store away when you've finished for the day.

Kids' Play Area!

Whether you have a clinic, an office, or even a beauty salon — having a dedicated space for children in the reception area adds a lovely touch and makes their waiting time fun and safe.

A fun school for kids and teachers!

Transform your classroom into a smart and comfortable learning space. Choose classroom furniture that makes the best use of space and provides students with comfort during sitting for long time. Everything has its place — from backpacks to personal belongings — so the classroom always stays decluttered.

For teachers time!

They deserve a comfortable, dedicated space that helps them focus, be creative, and get through daily tasks with ease. With IKEA's range, you'll find everything you need — from desks and chairs to storage units and lighting.
