1. To move the workstation up or down, squeeze the paddle located on the right side of the Workstation. (figure 1)
2. When the workstation is at the desired height, release the paddle to lock the Workstation into position.

Adding equipment to the Workstation

You can place equipment onto the Workstation or you can use the provided hardware and grommet hole to mount your equipment to the Workstation.

Warning! If you attach a monitor arm to the Workstation, make sure that you don't position the monitors beyond the edge of the desk surface. If you extend the monitors past the desk surface, you could create a tipping hazard. Make sure that you lower the Workstation to its lowest position before you add equipment to it, distribute the weight across the Workstation evenly, and don't extend the monitors beyond the edge of the adjustable desk surface.

Place free-standing equipment onto the Workstation

1. Move the Workstation to the lowest position.
2. Place your equipment (for example, monitors, keyboard, mouse, and so on) onto the workstation. (figure 2)

Warning! Do not exceed the weight capacity of the Workstation.

3. Make sure that your equipment is stable on the workstation before you move the Workstation.
4. Raise the Workstation a short distance. If you can't easily move the Workstation upwards or it begins to move downwards when you squeeze the paddle, you need to adjust the tension. For more information about how to do this, see the "Adjust the tension of the Workstation" section of the manual.
5. Position your equipment cables so that they run through the loops located at the back of the Workstation. (figure 3)
6. If necessary, reposition the keyboard tray. For more information about how to do this, see the "Reposition the keyboard tray" section of the manual.

Clamp equipment to the grommet hole

Warning! Do not exceed the weight capacity of the Workstation.

StarTech.com offers optional monitor mounting accessories that are compatible with the Workstation. For example, the ARMDUAL, ARMSLIM, ARMPIVOT, and so on. To attach a mounting accessory to the grommet hole on the Workstation, complete the following steps.

Note: If the mounting accessory is configured for a desk mount, you need to reconfigure it for a grommet hole mount. For more information about how to do this, see the documentation that came with the mounting accessory.

1. Move the Workstation to the highest position.
2. Position the mounting accessory over the grommet hole on the Workstation.
3. Depending on the size of the threaded hole on the mounting accessory, thread either the M10 x 50 mm bolt or the $\frac{3}{8}$ - 16 x 50 mm bolt through the clamp plate.

Note: If the threaded hole on the mounting accessory isn't compatible with the bolts provided with the Workstation, you may need to use the hardware that came with the mounting accessory, if suitable.

4. Hold the mounting accessory upright, thread the bolt up through the grommet hole and into the accessory, and use a wrench to tighten the bolt. (figure 4)
5. To mount additional equipment, move the Workstation to the lowest position and add your equipment.

6. Make sure that your equipment is stable on the Workstation before you move the Workstation.
7. Raise the Workstation a short distance. If you can't easily move the Workstation upwards or it begins to move downwards when you squeeze the paddle, you need to adjust the tension. For more information about how to do this, see the "Adjust the tension of the Workstation" section of the manual.
8. Position your equipment cables so that they run through the loops located at the back of the Workstation. (figure 5)
9. If necessary, reposition the keyboard tray. For more information about how to do this, see the "Reposition the keyboard tray" section of the manual.

Adjust the tension of the Workstation

Warning! Remove all equipment from the Workstation before you begin to adjust the tension.

1. Carefully remove all of the equipment from the Workstation.

figure 5

2. Raise the Workstation to the highest position.
3. To adjust the tension of the Workstation, use the large hex key to turn the adjustment screw clockwise or counterclockwise. (figure 6)
4. To check to see if the tension requires further adjustment, move the Workstation to the lowest position. Place the equipment back onto the Workstation and do one of the following:
 - If the tension is at the appropriate setting for the weight of the equipment, move the Workstation to the desired height.
 - If you need to adjust the tension further, complete steps 1 to 3 until the tension is at the appropriate setting for the weight of the equipment.

Reposition the keyboard tray

1. Carefully remove all of the equipment from the Workstation.
2. Raise the Workstation to a position that enables you to access the underside of the keyboard tray.
3. Use the small hex key to remove the two sets of six screws from the underside of the keyboard tray. (figure 7)
