1.The foot roller can not fixed in a position

The footrest unit will automatically extend to suit taller individuals.

However, The stretchable design of the footrest is not in a fixed position. And we do not recommend forcibly stretching the legs during the massage. If the excessive force in the legs will not achieve the effect of relaxing massage and may cause injuries.

2.Too strong or weak Intensity and strength

The massage intensity and strength was adjusted according to the local US customers and we did massive tests to view the results and then finally produced this massage chair. In addition, the intensity and strength of our massage chair is lower than that of products in the same industry.
