INSTRUCTIONS

USB receiver here!

- To charge your mouse, connect the included cable to the USB port on the mouse and your phone's charger or your PC/laptop's USB port.
- A blue light on top of the mouse will indicate that it's charging and will turn off once fully charged (which typically takes 2 hours).
- For Bluetooth connectivity on Windows, go to "Bluetooth & Devices," select "Add device," click on "Search," choose "Bluetooth," find the mouse, and click to connect.
- Bluetooth on MacOS and iPad: navigate to "System Settings," select "Bluetooth," find the mouse, and click to connect.
- Use with Bluetooth on Android: "Quick Setting" > "Bluetooth" > "Pair new device" > > Find the mouse > Click to connect
- If using the USB option, insert the USB receiver (stored under a cover) into your computer's USB port. The mouse should be automatically set up by your computer's system.
- Troubleshooting: When the mouse's battery is low, you may experience a shaky or lagging pointer, or it may not move at all. This indicates it's time to recharge the battery.
