Two yellow triangular warning signs are shown at the top. The left sign depicts a hand being struck by a lightning bolt, indicating an electrical hazard. The right sign shows a person lifting a box labeled 'kg' with a lightning bolt, indicating a heavy lifting hazard. Below these signs is a large rectangular area representing a screen or display, which is surrounded by eight circular icons. Four of these icons are red with a diagonal line through them, indicating prohibited actions: touching the screen (top-left and top-right), using a stylus (bottom-left and bottom-right), and using a keyboard (bottom-left and bottom-right). The other four icons are blue with a diagonal line through them, indicating allowed actions: touching the screen (top-left and top-right), using a stylus (bottom-left and bottom-right), and using a keyboard (bottom-left and bottom-right).
