Software Download

Using the compatible software

The QPC5 is a standard UVC camera that can be used with a variety of software including third-party video conferencing software Zoom, Microsoft Teams, or Google Meet. However, to get the full functionality of this 4K document camera, we recommend using it with the included QOMO Camera software for document cameras. This software allows you to annotate, save, and record photos and videos. You can download /QCamera free using the link below.
