LG’s documentation for my new TV is a future deal killer. I have used many LG products in the past with great satisfaction. But LG apparently farmed out the documentation of the TV (&TV remote) line to minimum wage employees without any testing of the adequacy of the resulting ease of use for the buyer. A complete failure.

I’m trying to program the remote to control my T.V. but the brand of T.V. is not listed. I have went though all 10 codes and none of them work. Is there another way to program this remote to control my T.V.?
