Attendance Module

Display Paycode Units

- Access Attendance>Setup>Paycode>Add/Edit, select the Paycode unit, and click Confirm to save the settings.

- The field name in the report will display the unit in which it is used

System Module

Database Operation Authentication

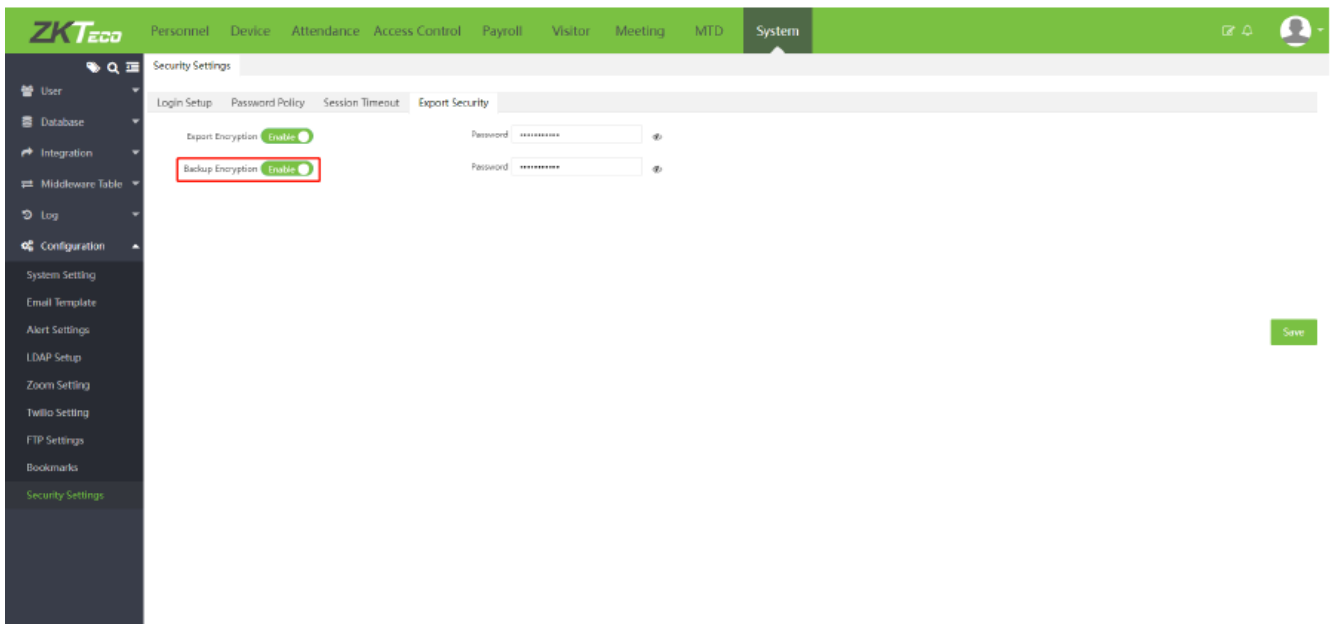

- Before proceeding to backup and restore databases, users must use a super administrator account for verification.

The screenshot shows the 'Backup' section of the ZKTeco System. A table lists backup records with columns for Database, Database Name, Operator, Time, Storage Path, Status, and Remark. An 'Administrator Verification' dialog box is overlaid on the table, containing fields for 'Username*' and 'Password*' with 'Confirm' and 'Cancel' buttons.

Database Backup – Encryption

- The database backup encryption function is enabled by default with the default password being the login password of the initially created super administrator.
- To disable this feature or change the default password, go to System->Configuration->Security Settings->Export Security.

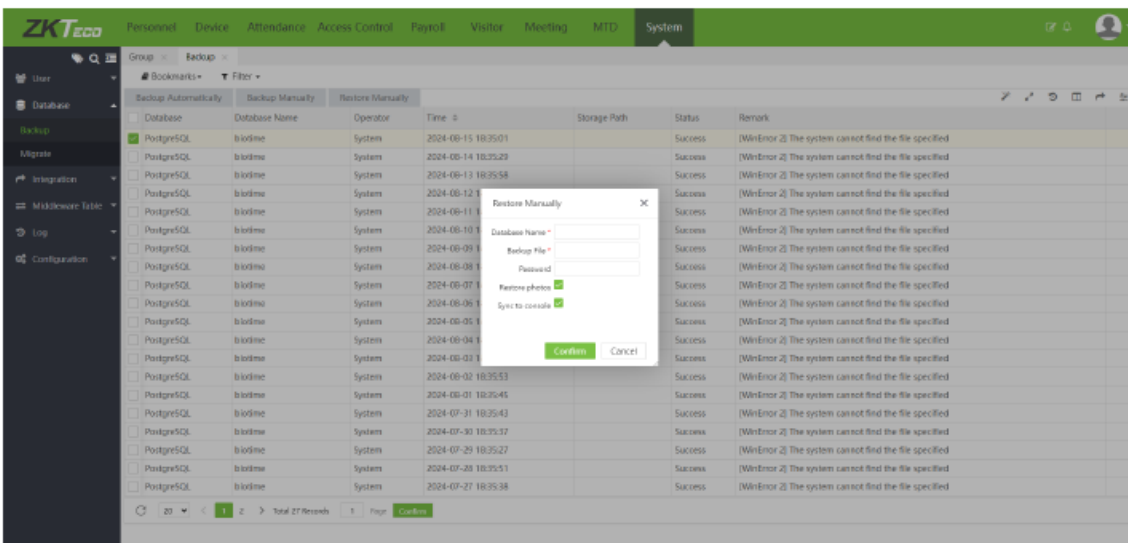

- Super administrators also have the option to customize passwords when backing up databases

Database Restore – Console Information Backfilling

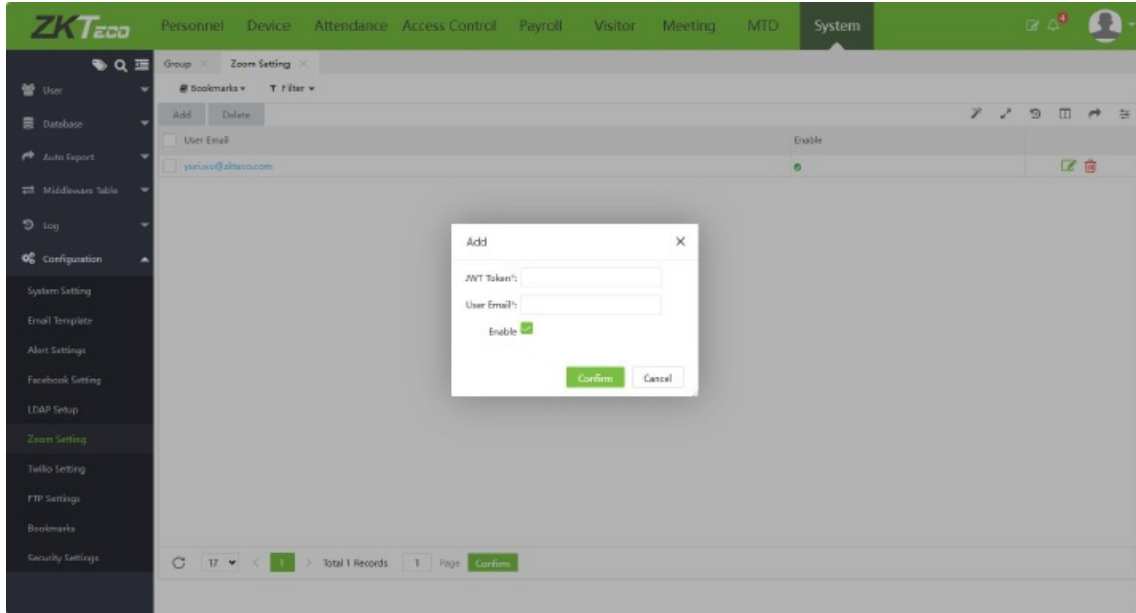

- When the user selects Sync to console, the system will backfill the database name and password to the console

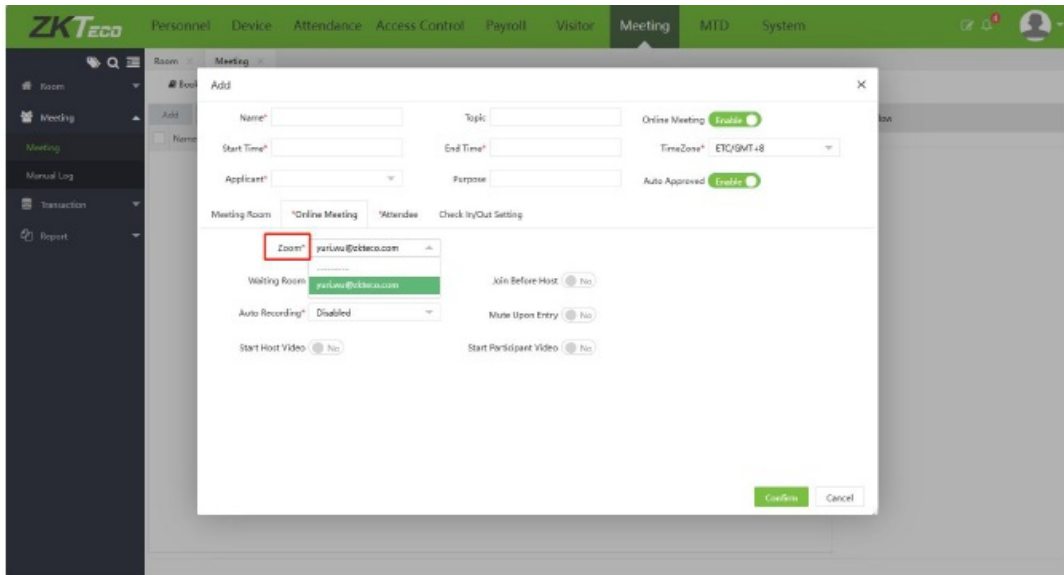

Add Multiple Zoom Accounts

- The system supports users to add multiple Zoom accounts, solving the problem of only having one online meeting at a time

- Users can choose different accounts to create different Zoom online meetings
